ABOUT ME

I'm Vaibhav Potadar, a photographer from Chikodi, continuing my family's legacy in photography—a passion that started with my grandfather and passed down through my father and his brothers. With six years of visual storytelling and two years of on-field experience in weddings, commercial, and product shoots, I bring a blend of creativity and tradition to every project.

What began as an interest has blossomed into a true passion, rooted in minimalism and attention to detail. I strive to capture timeless moments that resonate deeply. Join my journey on Instagram: @distorted_netraa.

Wintershoot

UNSTORTED

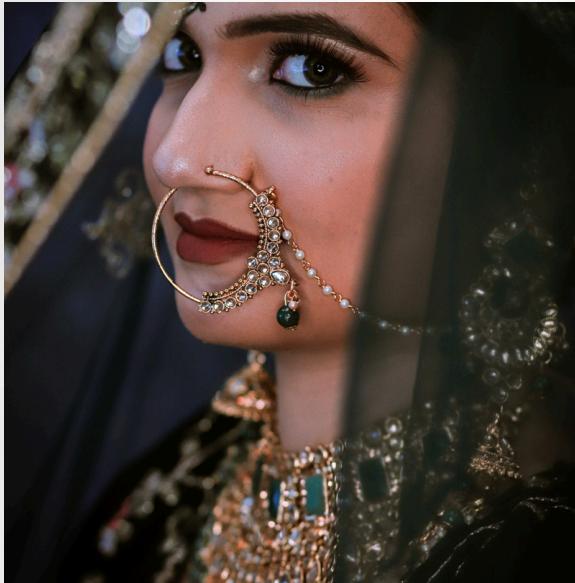

Organizing the winter shoots on Instagram led to an incredible experience with a fun-loving band of friends. Despite the cold weather, every moment spent capturing their energy and warmth was truly unforgettable!

street photography

Meeting new people and approaching strangers for portrait photography was a truly rewarding experience. It pushed me out of my comfort zone and allowed me to connect with diverse individuals, each with their own unique story. The process was fun, filled with spontaneity, and taught me the power of building trust quickly through the lens.

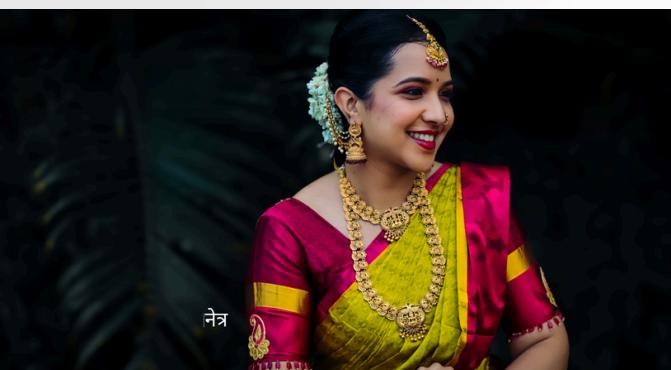

Model shoots

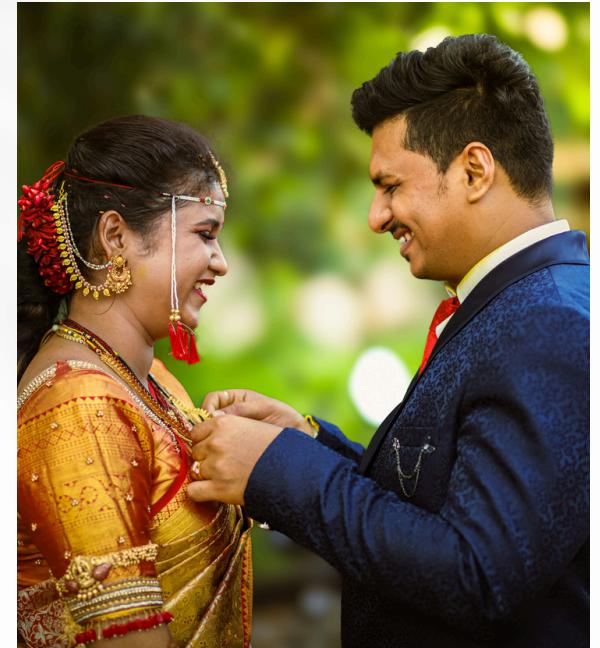

I had the opportunity to collaborate with Master Makeup Studio and Academy on several model shoots. The experience was not only fun and entertaining but also incredibly enriching, allowing me to gain valuable insights and refine my craft.

south indian look

Capturing the vibrant traditions and heartfelt moments of our cousin's South Indian wedding was an absolute joy. Every frame, from the radiant bride to the sacred rituals, was a beautiful testament to love and heritage.

Sushmitha and Deepak

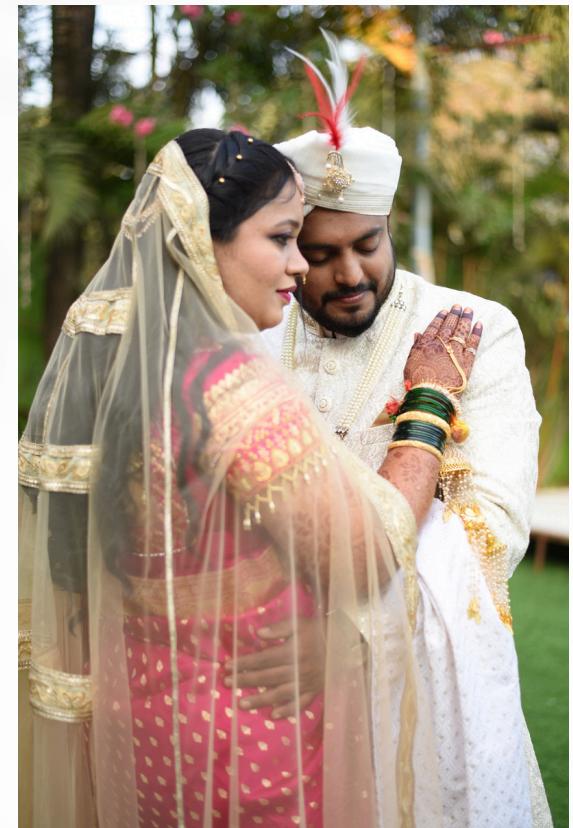

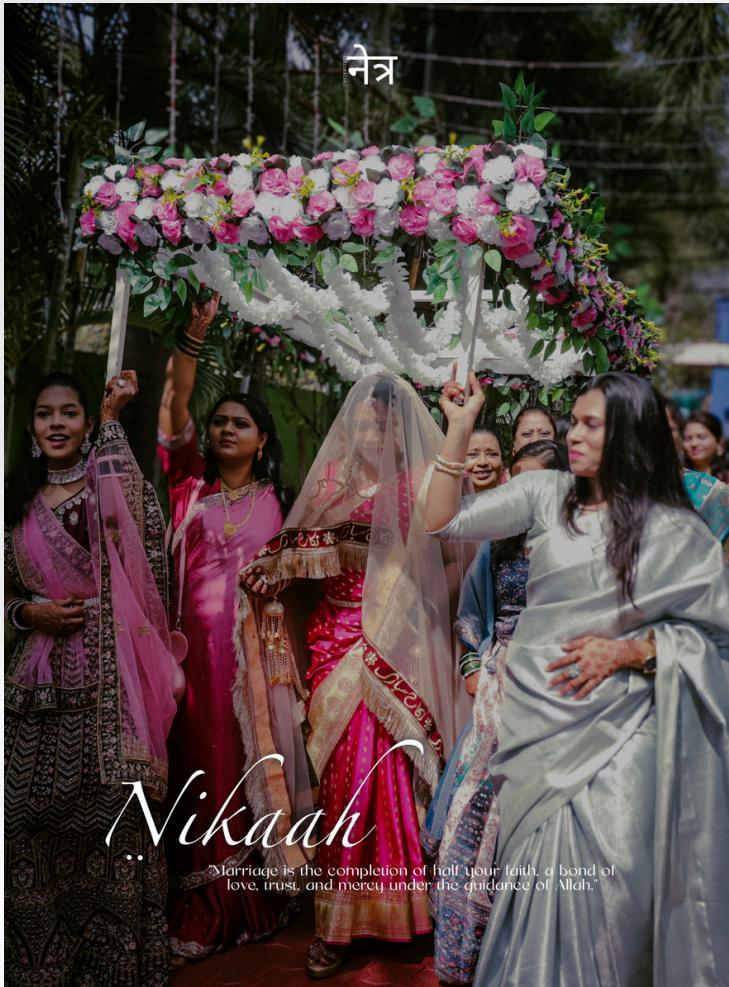

marriage shoot

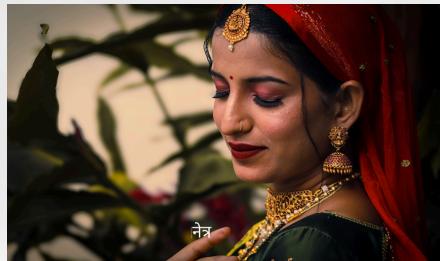

Shooting the Sapta Padi ritual at a South Indian wedding was a memorable experience. As the couple took their seven steps, I was immersed in the rich traditions, capturing the blend of culture, devotion, and joy that made the moment so special.

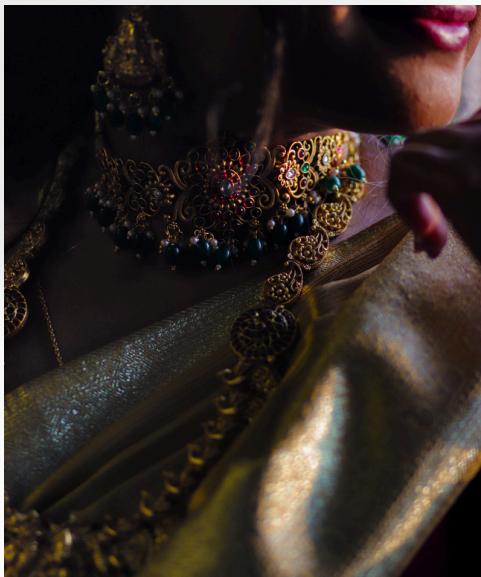

Muzamil and Shaheen

Capturing a Muslim wedding was both challenging and rewarding. The rich traditions, vibrant ceremonies, and cultural nuances required careful attention to detail, but it was an experience I truly enjoyed. It taught me to adapt quickly, work under pressure, and capture moments with respect and authenticity, making it one of the most fulfilling shoots of my career.
